“Tuition fees up in six provinces – The Daily, Statistics Canada, October 18, 2007 —Tuition fees for the 2007/2008 academic year for full-time undergraduate students rose in six provinces, including Quebec, where a freeze on tuition fees for residents, in place for more than 10 years, was lifted earlier this year. The biggest increases were in New Brunswick and in Quebec, where fees rose 4.8%, and in Ontario, where they grew 4.4%.” To read more about the results of the tuition survey <http://dissemination.statcan.ca/Daily/English/071018/d071018b.htm>.
